Truck fire

A West Guilford area man was forced to abandon his logging truck near Minden April 7 when the engine compartment caught fire.

"I was just pulling out of the Esso station when it started to smoke," said Lyle Sawyer.

It was a little before 10 a.m. when the incident occurred. Sawyer was northbound on Highway 35, just north of Minden, returning from delivering logs to Kinmount. He says he attempted to call the fire department from the phone in the vehicle, but was unable to do so before the smoke filled the passenger compartment, forcing him to abandon it.

Sawyer pulled over to the shoulder, and made the call from the service station. Attempts to extinguish the fire with household fire extinguishers failed, and the fire began to grow, spreading to the passenger compartment. Orange flames curled up over the windshield.

The Minden fire department arrived minutes later and doused the engine compartment and passenger compartment liberally with fire suppressing foam, which smothered the flames.

Three more mishaps

Cars flip on 118

by Andrew Milne

It's been another bad week on Highway 118.

The OPP investigated three accidents on the highway between April 3 and April 7. Two of these occurred on the stretch of road between Carnarvon and West Guilford.

There have been two fatalities in that region of the highway since December — Sarah Nash, a high school student, died in a December 20, 1994 collision 3.3 km east of Highway 35 on Highway 118, when her vehicle entered the opposing lane of traffic on a corner and was struck by an oncoming vehicle. The driver of the other vehicle was also seriously injured.

On March 10, Alice Martin, 72, also from the local area, died in a two-vehicle collision, around 1.2 km further east on the highway. Two others were seriously injured in the accident.

This week's accidents were however all listed as being the result of treacherous road conditions brought on by the sudden cold weather. No charges have been laid in any of these incidents, and there were no serious injuries. In summary:

■April 3, Yvette Foster of Stanhope went off the road 0.6 km west of Stanhope line 25, sustaining minor injuries.

■April 5, Simon Reid from the Carnarvon area lost control on an ice-

To govern services in four counties

Single MSA board recommended

It may be a compromise, but one governing board comprised of representatives from each of the four counties is the best Multi-Service Area (MSA) option in the opinion of the Haliburton County Long Term Care Committee.

The option the Haliburton group supports would see the Governing Board with equal representation from each of the four counties -- Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough and Northumberland. It would not be representation by population, since such a system would tend to favour Peterborough County with its higher population base than the others.

A "Service Council" would be set up in each county, each with an equal number of representatives. Two-thirds of the Governing Board members would be members of the Service Councils.

Bill 173 dictates that one-third of the board must be consumers (or people who have used the services in the past) and/or caregivers (those experienced in health or social services).

There must also be representation from a cross-section of the people of the communities, based, for example, on representatives from geographic, gender, disabled, seniors and other groups.

The local access points will be under the jurisdiction of the Service Councils.

The Service Councils will plan the service delivery within their respective counties, while the Governing Board will set the policies and procedures (within Ministry of Health guidelines) to be followed by all of the Service Councils.

The MSA Co-ordinating Committee recommended this system and forwarded its recommendation to the Haliburton County Long Term Care Committee, among other agencies for input and comments. The input from these agencies will be presented to the MSA Co-ordinating Committee tomorrow (Tuesday), where the concerns will be considered and amendments made. When the MSA Co-ordinating Committee has reviewed and amended the proposal, it will be forwarded to the District Health Council for final approval.

During discussions of the Long Term Care Committee, a few concerns were raised. Among the questions raised were:

- will the Governing Board have ro-

Kinmount LCBO break-in Liquor valued at $3,361 was stolen from the Kinmount LCBO store during a break-in March 31.

According to Cobocconk police, the intruders entered the store after breaking the glass in the front door. Removed from the premises were 14 cases of liquor.

Stolen goods

Police are continuing an investigation into the theft of a number of recreational items from the Kirkfield area. Included in the list of missing property is: 1988 yellow Skidoo Safari, licence number 604801; 1990 grey Skidoo, licence number 673803; 1986 yellow, Yamaha three-wheel ATV, licence number 522JD; 1991 blue and grey Yamaha 9.9 hp motor; blue Makita grinder; Black and Decker 3/8" drill; and Shimano fishing rods with open faced reels.

Flags for Fishermen

The first of two shipments of Canadian flags for the fishermen of the United Kingdom left The Times office on Friday. Branch 636 of the Royal Canadian Legion was among the many groups and individuals to contribute to the effort. Ken Walsh displays the six flags the local branch sent. The Times has organized the shipments to back the support shown by the fishermen of the U.K.. They are flying the Canadian emblem on their boats to demonstrate their support for Canada's position regarding over-fishing on the Grand Banks off Newfoundland. A second, and final, shipment will be made this Friday. Anyone wishing to contribute a flag for the package should have it to The Times office by Thursday at 4 p.m.

Something better to hope for each day

by Andrew Milne

She walks slowly, painfully, one foot placed methodically in front of the other, hands clutched to the support bars. A therapist stands next to her watching her, coaching her, encouraging her.

It doesn't look especially comfortable. And she's a little way from playing soccer yet.

But at least she's walking.

And, she says, "that feels great."

Judy Stevenson was diagnosed several years ago with osteoporosis, a condition in which the bones of the body become brittle and prone to breakage.

The progress of the condition in her case was such that her back curved dangerously, and became increasingly fragile, compressing her internal organs and threatening her life.

In 1993, she was treated in Baltimore for her condition, with an operation intended to straighten her spine and relieve the pressure.

The operation went well. But something went wrong in the hospital. Shortly after the operation, she says, she was dropped while being put to bed. Her fragile, injury-prone back broke.

The injury tore nerves in her spine and left her seriously crippled. For a time, she was on life support, and it looked like she might never recover.

She did, however. And was then told she would never walk again.

Apparently, this was wrong.

Stevenson now walks between two horizontal steel bars set up in a room at Hyland Crest, Haliburton County's long-term care facility in Minden.

There's no miracle here — no lightning bolts, nothing unexplained. Stevenson wasn't given her legs back by forces from beyond.

She's just taking them back. With a determination that is clearly visible and with a lot of help and encouragement from Linda Fry, who co-ordinates the restorative care program at the home.

The room is airy, cheerful, comfortable. Large plate glass windows behind her look out onto the Highlands landscape. Cheerful coloured stencils line the walls.

The room is part of the restorative care program at Hyland Crest — the stencils were sketched by another of its clients.

STEPPING OUT: With the help of supports, Judy Stevenson is walking again. Linda Fry, right, co-ordinates the restorative care program at Hyland Crest.

The idea of the program, says organizer Fry, is to take what you have and learn to do what you can with it.

In Stevenson's case, nerve damage in her spine means she cannot use many of the muscles in her legs. But some of them still function. The program, says Fry, teaches her to walk with the muscles she can still use.

"It's just like learning the process all over again," says Stevenson.

There's no way, of course, of knowing how far Stevenson will get with the program. But she's happy to have got as far as she has. When she started the program, she says, she was a lot less confident, a lot less happy.

Learning to walk again gives her a goal, gives her something to do. "It's hard," she says. "But I feel great."

Hyland Crest, one of several long-term care facilities to experiment with restorative care, started its program in 1989. Fry says there are around 15 people in the program full time, along with additional referrals.

Fry says there is more to the program than just the reward of restored or improved function. There's also the matter of allowing the clients to hope, and giving them something to work for.

Stevenson, she says, had been in a number of hospitals before coming to Hyland Crest, and was told she couldn't expect to walk again.

"When she came here," says Fry, "she had more or less given up. Now through the restorative care program she has been able to do things for herself that she couldn't do before."

Policing association targets crime prevention

The Kinmount and Area Community Policing Organization is turning its attention to crime prevention to complement established crime detection programs such as the Neighbourhood Watch, Merchant Alert and an active satellite police station.

An expanded policing steering committee has planned an active 1995 schedule, which includes a public crime awareness seminar on Thursday, April 27 at the Kinmount Legion from 7 to 9 p.m.

The topics of the seminar will be Violence In Schools, Abuse Of Young And Elderly, and Working For A Safer Community.

Everyone is welcome. Refreshments will be served.

Another event on the schedule will be an Open House at the Kinmount Police Station on Saturday, May 13, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The open house will give the public an opportunity to meet some of the police officers who patrol the area, see the police station and observe the network computer system.

In addition, the organization will have booths at the Canada Day celebrations on the July 1 weekend and the Kinmount Fair on the Labour Day weekend.

These events are aimed at making the public more aware of crime issues in this part of the province and creating a closer working relationship between police officers and people of all ages.

The ultimate goal is to make the Kinmount area a safer place to live, work and visit.

Community Policing has been made possible in Kinmount because of the outstanding support of the Ontario Provincial Police, citizens of the area, municipal governments, local businesses and organizations such as the Legion and Lions Club.

CANTEL DIGITAL SERVICE APPROVED AGENT

County loses another senior staff member

by Andrew Milne

Yet another of the County of Haliburton's management staff is packing his bags and heading south.

But he had a few words to say about his erstwhile employers before he went.

Larry Kent, general supervisor of roads for the county, is taking a position with Brant County — in the Brantford area — later this month. And he was quite blunt about his reasons.

"I've found it increasingly frustrating to deal with the lack of direction the county seems to have right now," said Kent.

Among Kent's criticisms of the county's policies, are that he feels monies raised from rental of the road equipment is poorly handled — in a manner which represents a false economy.

Larry Kent, Haliburton County's general road supervisor is leaving shortly for Brant County Haliburton County, explains Kent, is on an urban funding system, in which the county owns the road equipment, and rents it to the roads department. The money raised by this rental is supposed to go towards maintenance and replacement of the equipment, he says.

"But because of the constant pressure from whomever," says Kent, "any money the equipment has been earning has been taken out of there and put towards general operating costs. Our equipment has been going downhill for the last few years."

"That is council's money," he continues, "so it's their decision. But it's really not the proper way to use it."

As a result of this, says Kent, the operating costs are increasing. The older equipment is more expensive to maintain, and it just keeps getting more so. It is still safe to operate, he says, just expensive.

Kent says he does have other reasons as well — his children will be attending university in the next few years, and Brant county is closer to where they are attending. And Brant county offered a pay scale he found attractive.

But sitting in his office explaining his reasons for leaving, Kent's frustration is tangible.

"We like the area," he says. "We love the area. We've made a lot of good friends here... And we're not severing ties. We're keeping a home here. I'm 12 years from retirement."

But the county is running like a rudderless ship — and much of that you can lay at the door of council, he says.

The Ministry of Transport and Com-

“I see firsthand the value of preplanning.”

“Working in the funeral profession has allowed me to learn many valuable lessons. I've learned that life is a gift to be cherished. We should appreciate the time we have now because we never know what the future may hold.

But while I've learned to appreciate the present, I also understand the importance of preparing for the future.

Preplanning is one way to assure that our loved ones don't have to make those difficult decisions. Knowing the future is taken care of allows us to appreciate the present even more.”

GOLDEN RULE

Haliburton County Information Centre has a new executive director

Helping to find answers in a world full of questions

by Jerry Grozelle

Tiia Billings started as a volunteer for the Haliburton County Information Centre a few years ago and has worked her way through all of the jobs at the centre. Recently, she took over as executive Director when Doreen Hawman retired.

Billings was a volunteer helping with the housing registry and working on the scheduling of the DYMO bus. Before moving up to the executive director position, she was senior administrative assistant for about a year and a half.

Billings is a graduate of the Social Services Diploma Program offered by Sir Sandford Fleming College. It was an intensive course that packed four semesters into one year.

She admits it was a hectic pace but she said: "It gives you skills that can be used anywhere."

While she was taking the course, her placement was at the Information Centre.

Billings says she likes working with all kinds of people and the centre offers her the opportunity to meet people from all walks of life.

The centre employs two people full-time and, occasionally, part-time employees, who are available through various government and college programs. The centre also has more than 40 volunteers.

The centre's mandate is to help people find solutions to social, health, government and environmental problems by providing information or referring inquiries to the appropriate service.

Billings credits her predecessor with moving the centre into the computer age. The centre is now linked, via computer, to 80 community information centres across Ontario, providing an extensive data base from which to draw.

The centre recently completed an updated Directory of Community Services and Human Resources. The directory is a three-ring binder filled with 25 chapters of sources and resources. Some of the categories listed in the table of contents include banks, communications, consumer and marketing services, emergency services, employment, environment, culture and recreation, education, government, legal services and housing, among others.

The directory was produced in-house, by the information centre staff.

The Information Centre maintains extensive resource files on local services and government agencies, departments and their functions. The staff is experienced in the details of gaining assistance for people and providing needed information.

The service is free and all inquiries are confidential.

"If we don't have what you need, we can refer you to another agency that does," Billings said.

Besides providing information, the Information Centre plays an important role in identifying gaps in services through the varied inquiries it gets. By keeping track of the types of inquiries it gets, the centre can recommend changes to improve the services in the community.

One service that is occupying much of the volunteers' time these days is the Volunteer Tax Program, whereby volunteers help people who are having trouble with their income tax forms. Billings said that as of last week, more than 500 people had received help with their income tax forms.

The Information Centre is supported by the Ministry of Health's Long Term Care division, the Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Recreation and the municipalities of Dysart et al and Anson, Hindon and Minden.

The Information Centre is located in Haliburton in the Drag River Municipal Building on Maple Avenue. It is open Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The centre also operates one day a week in Minden in the lower level of the municipal office, also from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Telephone numbers are: Haliburton 457-2733; Minden 286-4100 (Tuesdays only).

Billings says the goal is to eventually branch out to have services available one day per week in Wilberforce and Dorset as well.

McCrae courting votes in pre-election visits

Liberal hopeful stresses employment

by Andrew Milne

Provincial Liberal candidate for Victoria-Haliburton, Sharon McCrae, spoke to a small crowd at a 'meet the candidate' night in West Guilford April 4.

McCrae criticized the incumbent NDP government's MSA (multi-service agency) proposal, criticized the government's bill 163 amending planning procedures at the municipal level, and spoke of a need for more community participation and involvement to meet the challenges posed by reduced government funding.

But her primary concern, she says, is unemployment.

"With unemployment around 15 percent in Victoria, and something like 30 percent in Haliburton," says McCrae, "my primary concern has to be job creation."

McCrae says she is aware it will be a challenge to get the Liberal candidate Sharon McCrae talks with a member of the public who attended at the West Guilford Community Centre last Wednesday. Anticipating an election call in the next few weeks, McCrae has been hosting a number of meet the candidate nights in the riding.

people of Victoria-Haliburton back to work, but that this has to be the central concern of the government. Even in times of fiscal restraint, policies and programs that get people back into the workforce are worth the money and time invested for the dividends they pay, says McCrae.

And Victoria-Haliburton especially, she says, needs the commitment of the government to solve this problem.

She feels government policies also have to be more amenable to tourism development. Says McCrae, "I feel that lately the government has given too much emphasis to industries more important to the GTA (Greater Toronto Area) in terms of development. Tourism is important for regions like ours."

Also important to this area, says McCrae, is refurbishment and maintenance of the roads network, to encourage visitors to the area by making the trip easier.

McCrae also says she is aware of the concerns for health care in Haliburton County, and particularly in Minden. Whatever decision is made, she says, it has to be made soon, committed to, and implemented. And most importantly, it has to be made locally.

For the provincial NDP government's multi-service agency, an umbrella organization designed to concentrate and coordinate a number of community health and social services formerly run on a less organized, often volunteer basis, McCrae had strong words.

"It's just another bureaucracy," says McCrae. "It's not a good use of taxpayers' money."

More to the point, says McCrae, the approach behind the MSA's is anathema to what she feels is going to have to be the way of the future in this era of cutbacks — greater community involvement in decision making and taking the initiative for providing services. "We need more volunteers," says McCrae. "Not less."

Related to this concern, McCrae says the provincial government has to develop a more cooperative attitude in dealing with local government. Local governments, she says, have increasing and important responsibilities, and need the cooperation.

McCrae has served two consecutive terms as mayor of Lindsay (the first to be re-elected to the post in 100 years, she says), on the Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit, and in other capacities in local government.

Local committee backs option

Questions asked about single MSA proposal

tating meetings in each of the four counties?

- will the Service Council positions be volunteer or paid positions?

- what guarantee is there that the recommendations of the Service Councils will be endorsed by the Governing Board?

It was noted that this option is a general framework and can be fine-tuned.

Bill Davis, deputy-reeve of Dysart et al, pointed out that Haliburton County has the highest percentage of senior citizens. He said Haliburton County will need the services most because of its aging population. He recommended that County Council support one MSA for each county.

He expressed the concern that the Governing Board could take on enormous proportions if every cultural and ethnic group must have representation on the board.

It was agreed that the proposal may not be the ideal situation for Haliburton County, but it is the best of seven options.

Donna Pacey, executive director of Haliburton

County Home Support Services said that strong community input is important and that the people on the Service Council would have to be very dedicated individuals.

No time frame has been set out for the decision process. The District Health Council is expected to forward its recommendations to the Ministry of Health late this month or early in May. It is hoped that the ministry will act on the recommendations quickly, but with a provincial election looming, there are no guarantees on how fast the provincial government will act.

Honour thy Mother

It was 25 years ago that individuals marked the first Earth Day. Setting aside a single day each year arose from a heightened awareness of the finite nature of the planet on which we live and the need to protect and nurture it.

While the sense of alarm which existed a quarter of a century ago has been tempered by increased knowledge of what we are doing right, and wrong, to our planet home, the urgency with which certain problems confront us is no less diminished. While some may seem beyond our immediate reach, there is much an individual can do to help resolve the crisis Mother Earth faces. Such "distant" problems as run-away population growth, ozone depletion, global warming, destruction of habitat and the rapacious plunder of the earth's bounty can be confronted through concerted international action.

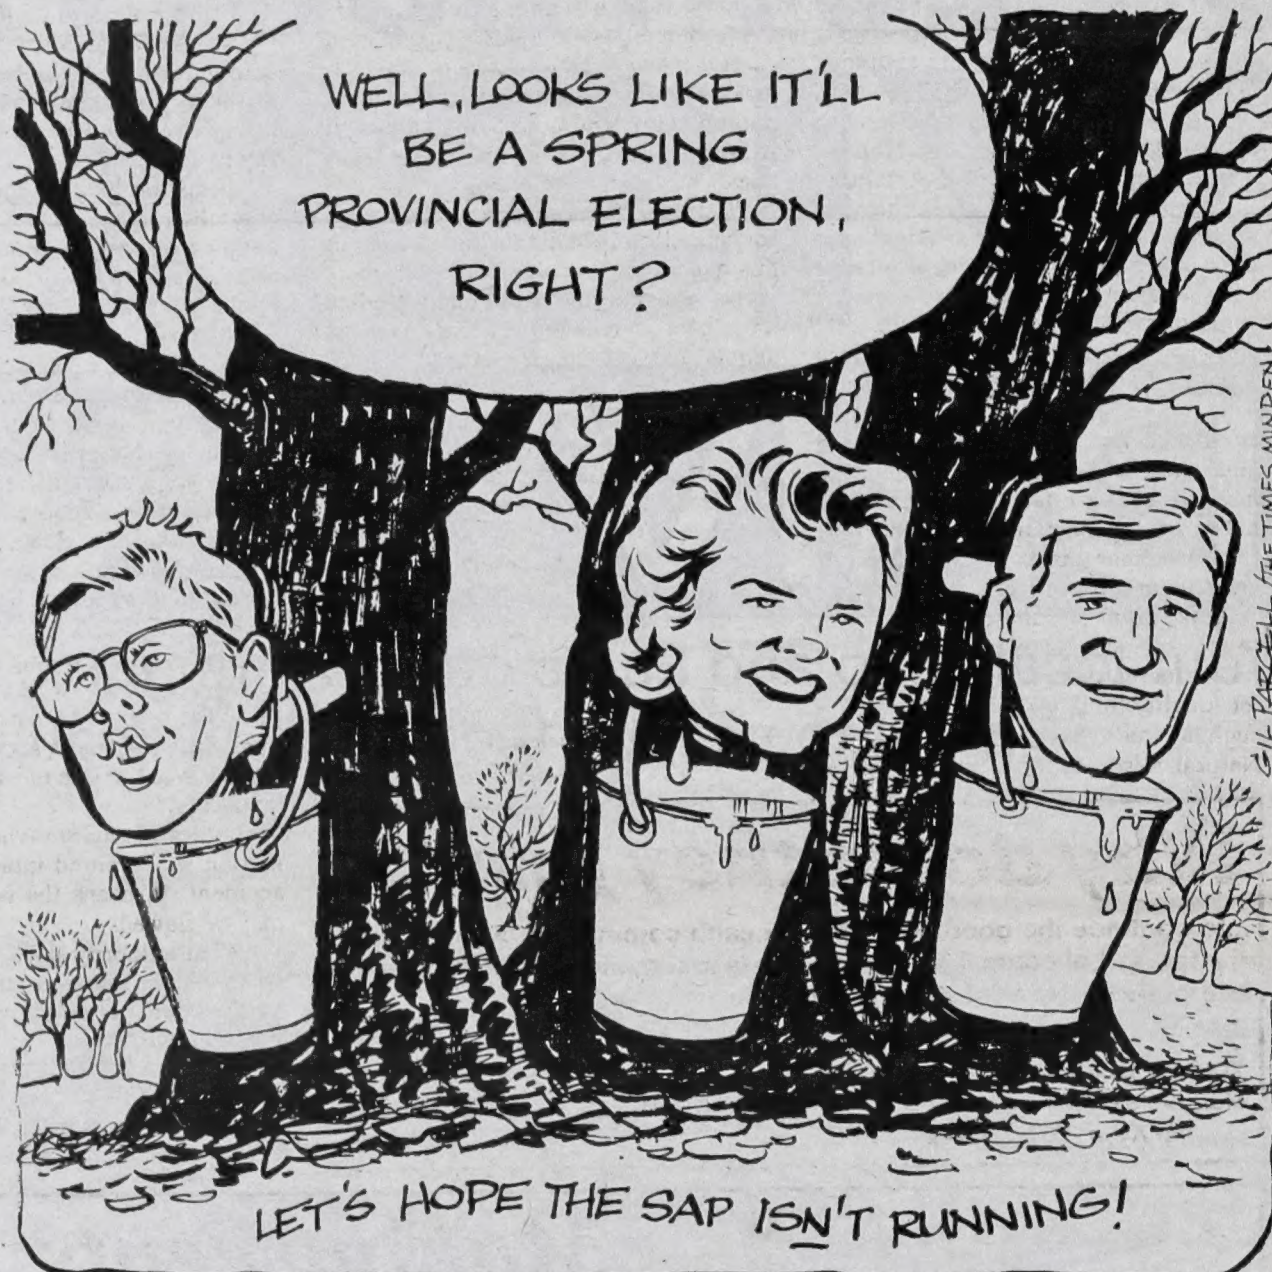

The newest tool to tie mankind together in an even smaller 'global village', is the expanding computer Internet. Through this new tool it should be easier and more effective to marshal public pressure against the forces which continue to foul this nest we call Earth.

Individuals should not feel overwhelmed by the magnitude of the problems we face. While it may seem difficult to envision the impact one could have in changing certain courses, there are problems just outside one's front door that need attention. Responding to them, even though the effort may seem miniscule, will serve to enhance Mother Earth.

It is easy to organize a family or block litter clean-up, a tree-planting excursion, or a habitat restoration or preservation project. Spreading the word about the value of recycling, encouraging reduced energy consumption or increasing the community's knowledge and appreciation of the natural world, how we are a part of it, and reliant on its well-being for our own and future generations' health are other ways of contributing to the Earth Day effort.

Take time Saturday, April 22 to honour the Earth on which we are dependent for everything. Help heal the wounds we have inflicted and re-affirm your intention to be ever-vigilant to protect it into the future.

Over-reacting

Editor:

I would like to thank Dollo's IGA, Minden Home Hardware and all of my customers for helping to make my first business, selling hot dogs outside the IGA, a great success last summer. They were all extremely helpful and assisted in getting my business career off to a fantastic start.

Unfortunately, the township council passed a by-law which states that any vendor within 1000 feet of an existing food establishment must have written permission from that business in order to operate. As it turns out, I did not receive the permission I need from one of the restaurants, therefore I will not be in business this year.

I feel that my business did not take away any customers from the existing restaurants, and if it did, it was negligible. I can understand the concern from the local restaurant owners over vendors such as myself, but I feel they have over-reacted. Thanks for hearing my point of view.

No conflict

Editor:

I was recently interviewed by The Times as a spokesman for the newly formed group, Haliburton County Family Help Centre.

Certain views have been put forward as to our group's interaction with other area organizations. We hope our actions will be positive in the effort to eliminate family violence and domestic conflict.

To this end, a public meeting will be held at the Minden Legion, Tuesday April 11, at 7:30 p.m. when questions and concerns will be addressed in a friendly and open manner.

Lake trout management

Editor:

Re: Lake trout management issues.
The changes to lake trout regulations affecting lakes in the Minden/Haliburton area have generated a lot of discussions lately. There have been several letters to the editor which we felt warranted a response. The following is an attempt to again provide some of the details and rationale for the recommendations which are being put forward.

In Ontario, there are approximately a quarter of a million lakes. Lake trout are only found in 2,200 of these lakes. This represents 25% of all natural lake trout lakes in the world. The Minden and Haliburton area is fortunate to have 91 of these lakes. Unfortunately many of the lake trout lakes in our area, like many of those in the rest of Ontario, are in trouble.

Lake trout populations are subject to stresses such as over-fishing, water level fluctuations, degradation of water quality and species introduction such as rock bass. The Ministry of Natural Resources is working to alleviate the impact of most of these stresses.

Over-fishing is another very important problem which must be considered. As all of the other stresses are addressed, the fact still remains that there are too many lake trout being harvested from the majority of our lake trout lakes.

There has been a great deal of work carried out to investigate and document this over harvest problem. Angler interviews and netting assessment studies have been conducted. Factors such as annual harvest, angler effort, fishing mortality rates and status of the spawning populations have been documented.

These studies have shown us that the present regulations are not adequate and something must be done to turn the situation around.

A variety of options has been reviewed but only those options which would be effective in reducing the overharvest to acceptable levels have been considered.

Many steps to protect the lake trout from the various stresses have already

Let's pull together

Editor:

I find it hard to understand the apathy of this community over our health care. Information has been publicized in this newspaper that begs to question the decision of the Acting Health Services Board.

Decisions that a council, board or committee make for a community cannot please everyone. But those decisions are made with all good intentions and are based on all the facts that are put before them.

Although the decision of the Acting Health Services Board didn't quite please me, I believed that the decision was made honestly and with all the facts. Now I know differently.

Why was the report on the impact on the ambulance service not put before the board? How much more information was not put before the board?

For instance: who pays and what are the costs of upgrading the water and sewer system at the Haliburton Hospital? Who pays and what are the costs of upgrading roads and services to Hyland Crest? What about the heliport at Hyland Crest?

It does not matter whether the information was omitted intentionally or by accident. It means the board's decision may be flawed.

What authority does the board have when the information sheet (approved by the board) is edited without the full board's approval?

I believe the chairman of the board must address these questions in public.

I have said before, the Ministry of Health is made up of several branches:

the Hospitals branch and the Ambulance branch. Possibly other ministries and branches are involved. The point is, the Hospital branch's plan may save the branch money, but it seems to me the costs are just being transferred to other branches or ministries.

Are we jeopardizing all health care in our community to make one section of the ministry of Health look good?

When all the facts and figures are presented and the decision that has been made is upheld, let's pull together and get the job done. But if the information proves the decision is wrong, I would hope the board members would have the courage to make the proper and moral changes.

We as a community cannot sit back. Those who held back information must be held accountable.

The next Acting Health Services Board meeting is Wednesday April 12 at 7 p.m. at Our Lady of Fatima Roman Catholic Church in Minden.

Creators of attitudes

Making cents

A penny saved is a penny earned.

Old English saying

Every penny counts.

Ancient Hebrew adage

In Spain they have a coin called the centimo. It is a tiny, almost weightless disc, made of dingy aluminum. Value: one-hundredth of a peseta, which is to say...well, I remember getting off a city bus in Malaga one day. The man ahead of me had paid his fare with a bill and received a fistful of centimos in change. His response? He tossed them over his shoulder without a backward glance.

At the time, the average weekly wage in Spain was about $20 Canadian.

I hadn't thought of that little Iberian vignette for about 30 years. Not until I was standing at a stop light in Toronto last week when a man got out of a cab right in front of me. He too paid for his fare with a bill. He too received a handful of coins-- in this case pennies.

His response? Exactly the same as the Spaniard's. He tossed the pennies into the gutter and walked away.

Shouldn't be surprising, I guess. Most Canadians must be familiar with the little Styrofoam cup by the restaurant cash register with the slogan, "Give a penny, take a penny" written on it. It signifies that the Canadian penny is now worthless, cashiers can't be bothered making change with it. They round your bill off to the nearest nickel. If you've got a couple of cents in your pocket to even it out, swell -- throw them in the cup. If not, forget it. Its no big deal. For cashiers the penny has become a nuisance. A mere pain in the assets.

But the average Canadian still treasures the penny.
We don't spend them -- we hoard them. By the ton. A recent study commissioned by the Royal Canadian Mint found that a staggering 81 percent of all Canadian homes contained stashes of coins -- especially pennies -- in jars, piggy banks and other types of containers.

The study reckons that if we could somehow vacuum up all the pennies squirrelled away in cupboards, desks, drawers and cigar boxes, we'd find about 10 billion coppers.

Ten billion! That means there's about 100 million dollars worth of coppers out there, gathering lint and turning green. Which really bugs the Canadian Mint, since they have to keep manufacturing 700 million new pennies each year to replace the ones that go into our sock drawers and out of circulation.

And they're losing money on every penny they produce.

That's right -- the Canadian penny is now so worthless it costs the Canadian Mint a cent and a half to produce each cent.

The government would dearly love to do something about all these hoarded pennies. So far the options are:

• Spend millions of Loonies on an advertising campaign to convince Canadians they should spend those pennies.

• Pay citizens to cash in those pennies.

• Scrap the penny entirely.

I think the government is missing the most obvious move. In his budget, Paul Martin announced the government will shortly be minting a $2 coin to replace our paper deuce, right?

Why bother. Why spend millions of dollars on new designs and dies and manufacture and distribution when we already have the coins out there, doing nothing?

All Mister Martin has to do is announce a simple name change. Henceforth, he could say, the Canadian penny would be worth two bucks and known as ...the Doubloonie.

Canadians would get whiplash trying to get their hoards of formerly worthless coppers down to the bank.

A great idea, no? Sensible. Kills two birds with one stone. Costs next to nothing.

Which of course means the government will never go for it.

RETURN TO THE AUSTRIAN VILLAGE

Ludwig and Margaret Pilz are once more managing and cooking at the Austrian Village, at this quaint little restaurant tucked away from all the hustle and bustle. They stepped out of the action for a year but are now back welcoming guests. The Austrian Village is known to most residents as a great place to dine, but they also have a limited number of rooms and offer bed and breakfast accommodation in season.

CHURKO FURNITURE

Congratulations are in order to Jim Churko on the opening of his furniture store on Highland Street in Haliburton, Churko Furniture. We understand the place has been especially busy since he opened the doors. Jim is also the proprietor of JC Mattress in Minden, a business that evolved out of the closing of the Moynes Furniture store.

CAMPBELL'S BACK A GOOD CAUSE

Once again this year, Campbell's Flowers in Minden is taking orders for the colourful Sick Kid's Hospital T-shirts, sweat shirts and other items. The money raised through this effort will be used to support the good work that takes place at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Kids. Drop by and talk to Pat Campbell or one of her staff to order a shirt and help out a worthy cause.

THE PUMP SHOP RELOCATES

The Pump Shop has new quarters in Haliburton. Wade and Jane Woodward have moved their business from behind the Valu-Mart grocery store to a location between Highland Glass and Kei's Restaurant on Maple Street. The move was completed last week and they are pleased with the extra space now available for displaying their water pumps and related products.

Next meeting set for April 18

I guess this column looks familiar, but you haven't seen it for a while. Well, an update is long over-due and a meeting is essential.

In February, I advertised a meeting for two weeks and when the night came, no one attended. I guess people were too busy, however I will try again.

First of all, you should know that the highway signs are in production, but we need more help in the form of volunteers, material and money. These signs are essential to the community's businesses.

Nominations and the election of a new executive are necessary to keep the association progressing.

How's our bank account? How much more money do we need for the signs? Should we be looking ahead to other projects? These and other questions will be answered at our next meeting which has been scheduled for Tuesday April 18, 7 p.m. at Hart Lodge.

One week after our meeting, on April 24, business consultant Jerry Gribbens will be the guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Minden. The Rotary Club has opened this meeting to all who wish to attend. Dinner is served at 6:30 p.m. with a social time starting at 6 p.m. Dinner is $12 per person and the club would like to know by April 19 how many will be attending. If you can't make the dinner Gribbens will be speaking at about 7:30 p.m. For more information and reservations contact Bill Roszell at 286-2928.

Solution must be found before it's too late been taken. Limits on lake trout were reduced from 5 to 2 fish. Seasons have been reduced to protect spawning lake trout. Projects have been initiated to improve or create spawning habitat. Spawning shoals on Davis, Maple, Mountain, Redstone, Haliburton, Kennisis, Gull, Mississauga and Koshlong lakes have all been improved in the last few years, many of these in co-operation with local volunteer groups. Input into development policies are made to protect lake trout habitat. Permits are required for any work in or directly adjacent to these lakes. Negotiations with water level management authorities have resulted in alteration to the operations of many dams in an effort to reduce the impact of drawdowns. All these steps are not enough if we do not control the harvest.

To "Do Nothing" is not an option for us if we are to ensure the sustainability of natural lake trout stocks in our lakes. Addressing these problems is critical. Once a native lake trout population is lost, it is lost forever.

The main goal of the lake trout strategy is to maintain and if possible in time to enhance the health of our natural lake trout fisheries. The regulations being proposed will require adjustments by all parties. The short-term consequences cannot be alleviated but in the long term the decisions made today will pay dividends in the future.

The government's financial considerations may certainly play a role in stocking programs in the future. In this case, however, we must stress that the decision to stop the stocking of hatchery-reared lake trout on top of naturally reproducing populations is not a budget-cutting exercise, but a responsible fisheries management decision. This is a provincial initiative widely supported by fisheries scientists.

Stocking is an issue that is on everyone's mind. Unfortunately stocking is not the answer for natural lake trout lakes. It is true that some of our lake trout lakes where natural reproduction does take place, were established as a result of lake trout introductions and many were regularly stocked with hatchery raised fish over the years. The stocking issue is complex. However, there are enough studies available to show that stocking of hatchery raised lake trout over natural lake trout populations is scientifically inadvisable and financially irresponsible.

These hatchery fish not only dilute the genetics of the native lake trout in the lake but they also compete with the natural fish for food. Stocking often increases angler expectations and pressure on these lakes, again resulting in further over harvesting of natural fish.

In the last few years many have expressed concern that our lake trout were being overharvested. Many made suggestions as to how the problem could be addressed.

Studies were conducted and each pointed to the same conclusion, that in fact we do have a problem of overharvest in many lakes. Now is the time to take steps to correct the problem before it is too late. It is true that we may be able to fish as we have in the past for a few more years. The fishing may continue to deteriorate but the gradual slide may hardly be noticeable. However, having identified the problems and being mandated to ensure we have a healthy sustainable lake trout fishery in this area in the future, we must act responsibly now.

If you still have questions please give us a call or drop in to our office for a chat. I'm sure our long term goals cannot be that far apart. Let's work together in dealing with these problems today while there are still options that may work.

Stan T. Flemming,
Supervisor, Haliburton Highlands
Minden Area Office.

Creators of our own destiny

world is filled with their originality and inventions. The male of the species is an intelligent, resourceful being.

Why then, I ponder, if the male product is so nearly perfect, are there so many problems still troubling us today?

I reasoned that the answer must be in the producing of the product, or with the producers themselves, the women.

Since attitudes are the building blocks of behaviour, then, in my opinion, attitudes come from women as the bottom line denominators. Attitudes start with us.

Fighting or severe anger during gestation, unanswered cries during childhood, accusations and domination during teen years, impatience and self-interest as young women, sex as a weapon of strength--who among us is not guilty? Do we not have a dark side?

The world needs change, but that change must come from women. If you believe, as I do, that it is women who hold the power, if you believe that we set the tone for reality, then we should continue to change and teach by example and others will surely follow.

We must take responsibility and recognize what we have done--are we not the creators of our own destiny? But the foolish and short-sighted are many as we cast blame and look for solutions that don't begin with ourselves.

Women constantly criticize men for all they have done, but who raised those men, who taught them to care, to share, to help others?

When women realize that they are the ones who are the creators of attitudes, a realignment will occur, perhaps even in time to save the world.

Peewee B Monarchs win C division championship

The C division championship of the Tri-County peewee B hockey league was won by the Minden Monarchs. Minden played the last game of the round robin series against the Sutton Sharks on April 1 at the Minden arena.

The Monarchs had the championship clinched before the game started, but they ended the season with a 4-3 win over the Sharks for a record of six wins, one loss and one tie in the round robin series.

The Monarchs got on the scoreboard just 42 seconds after the opening faceoff. Shawn Casey was the sharpshooter, with assists going to Cam Neville and Trevor Cole.

The game was just two minutes old when the Sharks scored to knot the game at 1-1.

With 6:10 left in the opening frame, Neville scored to put the Monarchs in front again. Ryan Lyddiatt and Mark Mattsson assisted.

The Sharks bounced back again to tie it up at the 2:46 mark of the second period.

Less than three minutes later, the Monarchs were back on top, with an unassisted breakaway goal by Mattsson.

The persistent Sutton squad tied the game for the third time, at the 7:42 mark of the middle frame.

With 2:11 remaining in the second, Casey notched what proved to be the game winner, from Steve Crain and Neville.

Neither team was able to score in the third period as the Monarchs preserved the 4-3 advantage for the win. Adam Payne played a strong game between the Minden pipes.

Tri-County peewee convener Joe Seymour came up from Cannington to present the trophy to the Minden team.

Minden coach Ken Casey was pleased with the outcome of the 1994-95 season.

CHAMPIONS: The Minden peewee B Monarchs captured the C division championship of the Tri-County Hockey League. Carpenter's mites A division finalists at championship

by Jerry Grozelle

In 12 games this season, the Minden mite Monarchs hockey team lost only two.

"We were the top team in the Tri-County Mite League," said coach Greg Carpenter.

The league championship tournament was held on March 25 and 26 at the Woodville and Cannington arenas.

The Minden boys scored 10 goals in their first two games, without letting the opposition get a single reply. With that record, the Monarchs were placed in the A division championship final against Fenelon Falls, a team that played in a higher division all season. The Minden boys played well against Fenelon, but the experience of the opposition gave Fenelon the edge. The final score of the championship final was 4-2 in favour of the Fenelon Falls team.

The opener of the tournament for the Monarchs ended in a 2-0 win over Ops.

With just nine players, the Minden team was outnumbered by more than two to one against the Ops team.

The game remained scoreless until the third period when Matthew Eno broke the scoreless deadlock. Justin McKelvey assisted on what proved to be the game winner. Derek Carpenter added an insurance marker with 2:02 left in the game, with an assist going to Wade Woodward.

Game two of the series was against Manvers. Minden overpowered the opposition 8-0 in that game.

Eno got things started for the Monarchs again in this contest. He notched his first of marker of a hat trick at the 3:13 mark of the first period. Gavin Hicks assisted. A minute and three seconds later, Eno scored his second goal of the game on a set-up from Woodward. Justin McKelvey scored the third Minden goal just over a minute later on an unassisted effort and less than a minute after that, Hicks made it 4-0, from Carpenter.

The second period was just 45 seconds old when Eno rounded out his hat trick, with an assist going to Jacob Crowe. Forty-four seconds later, Woodward scored an unassisted marker for a 6-0 Minden lead. Hicks rounded out the scoring for the middle frame, unassisted, for a 7-0 Minden advantage going into the third.

A single marker was added to the scoreboard in the final frame. Travis Walker was the Minden sharpshooter, unassisted.

The Monarchs have played the entire season with each player taking his turn guarding the net. They don't use goalie equipment and nobody plays between the pipes for more than a couple of shifts at a time. The system has worked well in their division and it gave everyone the chance to see how well he liked playing netminder.

When the Monarchs faced Fenelon Falls for the A division title, they faced a team that had played in a higher division all season. Fenelon also had a "seasoned" goalie between the pipes. But, even so, the Monarchs led the game on two occasions.

Walker opened the scoring for Minden on a solo effort just 36 seconds into the game.

Midway through the first period, Fenelon got back on even terms and the frame ended in a 1-1 deadlock.

At the 1:32 mark of the second period, McKelvey put the Monarchs in front again, converting a set-up from Woodward.

The Monarchs remained in front until Fenelon got the equalizer with 3:59 left in the middle frame. Less than a minute later, Fenelon took the lead for the first time in the game. After two periods Fenelon held a 3-2 lead.

The third period saw Fenelon add one to its tally, while holding the Monarchs off the scoreboard to record the 4-2 win and grab the A division championship.

Carpenter extends his congratulations to the Haliburton mite team, winner of the C division championship.

"We had a great season," said coach Greg Carpenter.

He said that not only were the kids great to work with, but the parents were very helpful and supportive as well.

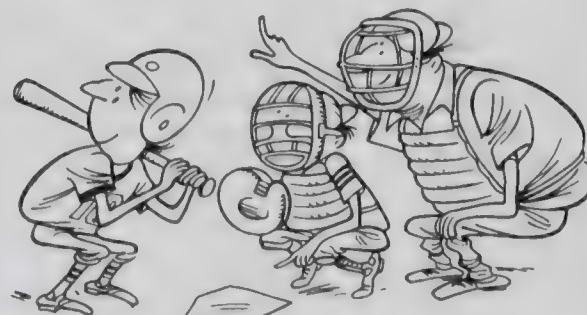

Carpenter said it was nice to see the kids improve over the course of the season and he added that even the youngest members of the team were starting to show some scoring punch near the end of the season.

"The whole season was a highlight for me," Carpenter concluded.

Novice a Monarchs win Omemee tournament championship

It may have been April Fool's Day, but there was no fooling around from the Minden novice A Monarchs. They won three games straight to earn the A division championship of the Omemee Tournament.

The Monarchs faced Trenton in their first game. The result was a 7-1 victory for the Monarchs.

Nick Mitchell opened the scoring, converting a nice pass from Ryan Vaters. Seconds before the first frame was over, Vaters scored to give the Monarchs a 2-0 lead. Lance Aggett assisted.

Early in the second period, Philip Greer put the Monarchs in front by a 3-0 count, with assists going to Matt Mattsson and Shane Both.

Down 3-0, the Trenton boys tried desperately to get on the scoreboard, but they were stonewalled by Minden goalie Alex Lyddiatt. Trenton did manage to put one on the scoreboard on a controversial play that saw the net knocked off its moorings. Referees ruled it a goal, eliminating Lyddiatt's chance of earning a shutout.

As it turned out, that was the only goal the Trenton team got, while the Monarchs went on to score four more for a 7-1 victory.

Seven minutes remained in the third period when coach Rich Lyddiatt put Ryan Cole between the pipes.

Cole was up from the novice B team and he proved his worth to the A squad, holding Trenton scoreless for the final seven minutes.

While Cole was guarding the Minden net, his teammates took control, scoring four times in the last half of the third period. Mitchell notched his second of the game, assisted by Mattsson. Justin Horsley netted a hat trick to round out the game's scoring. Benji Saunders and Mitchell picked up assists on Horsley's goals.

Game two started off with a fast pace and the end to end action continued throughout the game.

The game remained scoreless through two periods. Greer opened the scoring in the third, assisted by David Petch and Matt Allore. That goal proved to be the game winner.

Bewdley battled hard to get back on even terms, but Lyddiatt was up to the challenge. This time he wouldn't be denied the shutout. Mitchell scored an insurance marker, from Mattsson, to give Minden the 2-0 win.

After playing the first two games at the Ennismore arena, the Monarchs moved to Omemee for the championship game against the Peterborough Selects. As is fitting of a championship game, the opposition was the toughest Minden faced.

The Monarchs soon learned they had to tighten up their checking to keep the opposition forwards corralled.

Mitchell opened the scoring for Minden when he jumped on an opportunity and scored an unassisted goal for a 1-0 lead.

A few minutes later, Peterborough scored a short-handed goal and the first period ended in a 1-1 deadlock.

The Monarchs ran into penalty problems in the second period and at one point they had three forwards in the sin bin at once, leaving the defence to cover for the penalized forwards for a couple of shifts.

Being in a tough situation pulled the team together. Lyddiatt made some outstanding saves to keep Peterborough from breaking the 1-1 tie. The score remained knotted going into the third.

The action was intense in the third. Peterborough poured on the pressure, but the relentless back-checking by the Minden wingers and some outstanding defensive play, kept the Peterborough shots on net to a minimum.

With 2:24 showing on the clock, Greer broke down the ice. Kevin Walker fed Greer the pass and he scored the tie breaker.

The Peterborough coach pulled his goaltender in an attempt to get the equalizer, but the Monarchs held on for the championship win.

It took a unified team effort, but the Monarchs left no doubt they had earned the championship by beating the strong Peterborough Select team.

Mitchell was chosen as the most valuable player of the championship game.

Evan Kernohan, was unable to participate in the victory because of illness, but his teammates brought a championship medallion home for him.

It was a great end to the season for the Monarchs. The parents collectively expressed their thanks to coach Rich Lyddiatt, trainer Julie Petch and manager Jim Walker for a great season. They also sent their thanks to the Haliburton Huskies for giving the Minden team the opportunity to go to this tournament when they were unable to attend.

SIXTH VICTORY: This scramble in front of the Sutton Sharks' net resulted in a goal for the Monarchs (above). Minden edged the Sharks 4-3 in this game to finish the round robin playoff series with six wins one loss and one tie to earn the championship trophy. Joe Seymour, convener of the Tri-County Pee wee Hockey League was on hand to present the championship trophy to the Minden Monarchs. Seymour is seen here (right) presenting the trophy to Minden captain Cameron Neville after the game against Sutton.

Sweep into spring

Strange things are known to happen near the end of the season at the Minden Curling Club. For many, however, nothing tops the bill more than the fashion statements made by the participants in the Sweep Into Spring women's bonspiel held March 31 and April 1. While the champions, at the left, struck a cord of dignity when they accepted their trophy, other teams were more attuned to the changing season for which the competition is named. All in good fun, the event marks the end of another season at the Minden Curling Club, except for the banquet scheduled for April 22.

THIRD PLACE: From Huntsville, from the left, skip Nicole Dutkiewicz, vice Doris Capiyk, second Lois Heavner and lead Linda Schneider.

O'Reilly misses second reading voteMP seeks input on gun legislation

Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly has requested those interested in commenting on Bill C-68, the gun control legislation, to send their inquiries to his office so he can present them to the committee studying the bill.

"Now that the legislation has been referred to committee for further examination, I encourage anyone who has an interest in the legislation to send their views to me, since I have requested to appear before the committee," O'Reilly said. "If I am able to appear, I will present the views of the people of Victoria-Haliburton on this controversial issue," Mr. O'Reilly commented. "Otherwise, I will personally deliver them to Warren Allmand, who is chairman of the committee."

O'Reilly has stated his opposition to the proposed gun control legislation. However the MP was not in attendance when the House of Committee voted on second reading of the bill.

The Bill passed second reading on Wednesday and was referred to the all-party standing committee on Justice and Legal Affairs for closer scrutiny. During the committee stage, witnesses will be heard and recommendations may or may not be added to the bill before it is submitted back to the House of commons for third reading debate and vote. At this time it is uncertain how long the committee will study the bill.

"The vote on Wednesday was really a formality to send it to committee where the views of the average Canadians and experts on the Legislation get to have their input. Hopefully the committee will see the changes that need to be made to this bill and make the proper amendments," O'Reilly said.

Reiterating his opposition to the legislation, O'Reilly stated, "But make no mistake about it, if this bill is not changed when it comes out of the committee stage for third reading, I will have no choice but to vote against it."

"You have to spend money to save money"

Kent says county has ignored advice contained in Wace report

(from page 4)

"Steven Wace came here and did the Wace report," says Kent. "He was supposed to be the saviour of Haliburton County because he saved a million dollars for the town of Lindsay."

"And by the time he left," he continues, "council thought he was an idiot. But he told them basically what the staff has been telling them for years: you've got to spend money to save money."

Nor, says Kent, is this just a case of the stress of necessary cutbacks proving excessive.

"All over the province," says Kent, "and all over the whole world right now people are looking at doing more with less, but I think most areas are a little more open-minded about how to do it."

Kent is the most recent in a growing line of county managers who have quit in the last few years. County clerk-treasurer Terry Noble left just before him. Noble left in March to take a treasurer position in the township of Elora — near Guelph.

For some people, freedom is learning to sign their name ...

OPP seeking assistanceTruck theft believed linked to string of 503 break-ins

The theft of a 4 x 4 Chevrolet pick-up truck from MacDuff's Garage in Gooderham is believed to have been connected with a series of break-ins which have occurred along Highway 503 west of that community.

Sometime during the night of April 6 and 7, the two tone blue truck was removed from the garage property in Gooderham.

Later the same night Daniel's Novelty Wood Products just east of Kinmount on Highway 503 was entered. Thieves made off with $3500 worth of wood working power tools including routers, grinders and electric saws.

DeMoe Farms on Highway 503, between Kinmount and Norland was also entered and $2000 worth of tools was removed from the property. Included in the haul were three chain saws, oxy-acetylene torches, electric grinders and saws.

The Laxton, Digby and Longford work shed, on Highway 35 west of Norland was broken into. Approximately $10,000 worth of mechanic's tools and shop equipment was stolen from that location.

Coming up...

Items of interest coming up in the area:

The television program Let's Talk Fishing will tape an edition at the Minden Community Centre April 19. Sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association, the program features top anglers Wes Lavergne and Pete Pokulok. The taping begins at 7:30 p.m., Tickets, at $7.50, are available from members of the HHOA.

The Federal Minister of Justice, Alan Rock will be the guest speaker at a Victoria-Haliburton Liberal Riding Association fund-raising dinner. The minister is responsible for the new gun control legislation which received second reading last week in the House of Commons. The reception for the minister and local MP John O'Reilly will begin at 5:30, followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the Moose Lodge in Lindsay. Call 457-1464 for tickets.

An open house in honour of Doreen Hawman, to mark her retirement as director of the Haliburton County Information Centre, will be held April 21 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Information Centre, Maple Street, Haliburton. RSVP would be appreciated at 457-2733.

A Breath of Scotland, an fun-filled evening of Scottish entertainment returns to the Highlands Monday April 24. Sponsored by the Haliburton County Home Support Services, the show will be held at HHSS. Tickets are available through Home Support Services at 457-2941.

Investigation into the break-ins is being conducted by the Coboconk detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police. The police are asking anyone who may have noticed unusual activities in the area of these businesses or who has any information regarding these break and enters is asked to contact the OPP at 705-454-3311 or call Crimestoppers at 1-800-563-8477.

Awaiting pre-election good news about the TVO transmitter

With all the pre-election funding announcements going on lately, it's been tempting to think that we might hear news from Queen's Park of a TVO transmitter for our area. After all, we're in the three per cent of the province that's still being discriminated against by being denied a decent off-air signal to bring us our provincial public broadcaster.

Viewers, who vote with their zappers, have been showing their preference for "television that matters." During the week from January 30 to February 5, TVOntario generated a projected 6.9 million viewing hours — an increase of 23.7 per cent compared with the same week last year. And that's despite the launch on January 1 of seven specialty channels; looks as though the novelty's starting to wear off and people are discovering, and rediscovering, where to find really good television. All in all, the network's weekly audience is around 2.3 million. (Given the chance, we'd happily add a few thousand more to that number.)

These satisfied viewers are not alone in their judgement. Ian Morrison of the Friends of Canadian Broadcasting was quoted in the Globe and Mail last month as saying that he "would give TVOntario an A-plus... it's a world-scale organization."

Not just world-scale: world-class. France's right-wing government has just launched that country's first educational channel from scratch as a public-sector agency. (How's that for a nice irony in the privatizing nineties?) And who did French officials consult with closely in creating the new organization? You guessed it: TVOntario.

Program Highlights:

There's been a lot of publicity lately about the new Substitute Decisions Act, which allows you to choose in advance someone to make decisions for you in the event that you are no longer able to do so. Understanding the new Act is important for everyone, regardless of our age. It is one of the items featured on this week's edition of The Senior Report, when host Mike McManus talks with Jan Goddard of the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee.

(You can get a free Power of Attorney kit by writing to the Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee, Ministry of the Attorney General, 595 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario, M5G 2M6.)

During this program, Mike will also be talking with figure skater Frances Dafoe and pilot Daphne Schiff.

The Senior Report airs three times a week. The program described above can be seen on April 10 (tonight) at 11:00 p.m., April 11 at 12:30 p.m., and April 15 at 6:30 p.m.

TVO Update

by Susan Wilson

TVO Kids, the weekday programming block from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m., invites its young viewers to get involved in National Wildlife Week, April 9 to 15. Monday to Friday, April 10 to 14, hosts Patty and Kevin will pre-empt some of their schedule to air special programming that gives an inside look at plants, animals, and their habitats.

The Bush Baby, an animated series set in a Kenyan village, airs each day at 3:30 p.m. The Adventures of Dudley the Dragon follows at 4:00, Growing up Wild at 4:30, Tots TV at 5:15, and Bill Nye the Science Guy at 6:30. On Friday, April 14, at 6:00 p.m., the hour-long animated film Samson and Sally depicts the plight of two baby whales.

Program Highlights:

On Good Friday, at 9:00 p.m., TVOntario presents Missa Luba, which is both the name of the featured work in the program and the name of this hour-long documentary capturing the songs and dances of the various tribes in which the title work is rooted. Missa

Luba, performed by the Muungano National Choir of Kenya, is a magnificent and joyous composition filled with the sounds, rhythms, and passions of the best African music.

Blott is back! Starting on Friday, April 21, at 9:00 p.m., TVO is rebroadcasting one of the most zany, off-the-wall British comedies ever filmed. What begins as an everyday story about a plan to build a road through a country estate soon turns into a farce of epic proportions involving sex, violence, blackmail, and general anarchy.

If you remember Geraldine James as the subdued elder sister in The Jewel in the Crown, you'll barely recognize her here as the furious, crusading wife of the devious and kinky MP, Sir Giles (George Cole). David Suchet is the inscrutable Blott, an Englishman by adoption who feels duty-bound to save the country's heritage and joins Lady Maud's crusade.

Blott on the Landscape airs in six parts beginning Friday, April 21, at 9:00 p.m.

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to more information about TVOntario or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009.

Rotary Club donates $2000 for children's books at library

The Rotary Club of Minden has announced a grant of $2000 to the Haliburton County Library Board for the purchase of reading materials of interest to children.

County Librarian, Joel Levis thanked the club for its generous donation and noted that it was this kind of ongoing support which enabled the county library system to service all the residents of the county, no matter where they live.

"We must never forget the importance of reading to a child," Levis said. "It is a well-known fact that children who are read to benefit from the personal contact and interest, not to mention the favourable attitude which is developed toward books and learning. While there should be books in the lives of all children, this isn't necessarily the case. The materials purchased with this donation will start more of our children on the way to a high level of personal satisfaction.

"Despite the media hype of the Internet, and everything that goes with it, the ability to read is essential to the prosperity of everyone," he said.

The material will be initially placed in the Minden Branch, but will be available to all users of the system through the Inter-Library Loan service.

Phonebusters: fighting tele-marketing scam artists

Have you really won an all-expense-paid trip to Hawaii? Will you actually receive a brand new car if you just pay the taxes and delivery charges up front? What about that terrific investment deal on gems, "guaranteed" to make you a fortune.

If a telephone promoter [promises to make you wealthy, take a tip from Ontario's consumer ministry. Any time you are asked to send money before you receive a prize a warning bell should ring in your head. The offer could be a scam.

There are so many tele-marketing scam artists hatching plots to take money from Ontario consumers that a special police task force called "Phonebusters" has been set up to deal with the problem.

Staff Sergeant Barry Elliott, who is a member of the Phonebusters team says: "Anyone who receives a phone call from a person who says they have won a prize and then asks for money up front should suspect a scam. Hang up as soon as possible, and don't worry about being rude. Don't give out your credit card numbers or your address.

Project Phonebusters can tell you about the kinds of scams that are taking money out of consumers' pockets every day. A few of them include the following:

- A promoter calls and says: "Congratulations. I am calling from XYZ company. You have just won your choice of a new car, cash or an expensive vacation. All you have to do to claim your prize is send a cheque, or authorize your credit card for a payment to cover the cost of shipping and handling."

What the consumer doesn't know is that there is no car and the only cash involved is the money the promoter wants from the victim.

- The phone rings again. This time you are offered a job at home that will earn you thousands of dollars but only takes a few hours a day. Often the positions are described as telephone work at home or stuffing envelopes. But you have to pay for the "kit" to set yourself up in business. Often the only thing that will end up stuffed is your money in a scam artist's pocket.

- You receive a card in the mail. It says you have won a prize of up to $1,000,000. To claim your prize, call this number, 1-900-*. Any time you call a "900" number you are paying for the call. The minimum charge for a call may be in the $35 range. Your long distance telephone company bills your account and the person or company which has installed the 900 line profits. The "huge cash prize" doesn't materialize.

- A caller says you'll win a new truck if you will only buy 300 pens with your company name on them. The person doesn't say that a 1000 will be delivered and you will never receive the vehicle.

These are just a few of the many phone scams used against Ontario consumers. Modern telephone systems that allow call forwarding to other phones that may be a continent away make it difficult for police to catch up with scam artists.

To add insult to injury, lists of the names and telephone numbers of (more on page 28)

Even the sophisticated get caught

people who have lost money are often sold from one crooked promoter to another, for a fee of about $5 each.

"These people are highly organized, so selling a list of 'triple A' names -- often consumers who are elderly or middle aged, and have money in the bank -- can sometimes result in the same consumers being taken by several con artists," says Elliott.

One of the main problems in trying to stop scam artists is that the victims are frequently too embarrassed to come forward.

Elliott says, "People who get taken aren't just those who are unsophisticated. Many professional people fall for scams. But it makes the job of catching the criminals much tougher if few victims will tell their stories."

How do you pick the scam artists from legitimate tele-marketers who sell goods or services at fair prices.

According to Phonebusters, be wary of a company that does any of the following:

- promises a valuable prize in return for a minor purchase.

- uses high pressure tactics to make a quick sale.

- asks for a credit card number to cover "expenses" for a prize.

- wants you to make a big investment over the phone, or

- wishes you to buy something or support a charity and says they'll send someone over right away to pick up your cheque.

The best defence against fraud artists on the phone is to hang up on them. But if you think you have been a victim of a scam, call the Phonebusters number 705-495-8501 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

This has been the best day in Josh Watson's life.

Josh Watson just got his first parking ticket. And if you were to ask him, he couldn't be happier. Why?

Because all of this would have seemed impossible to Josh just six months ago. You see, Josh is in a wheelchair. And until recently, he felt as though he would be confined to his parents' house, as well. We helped him get out. We're The Easter

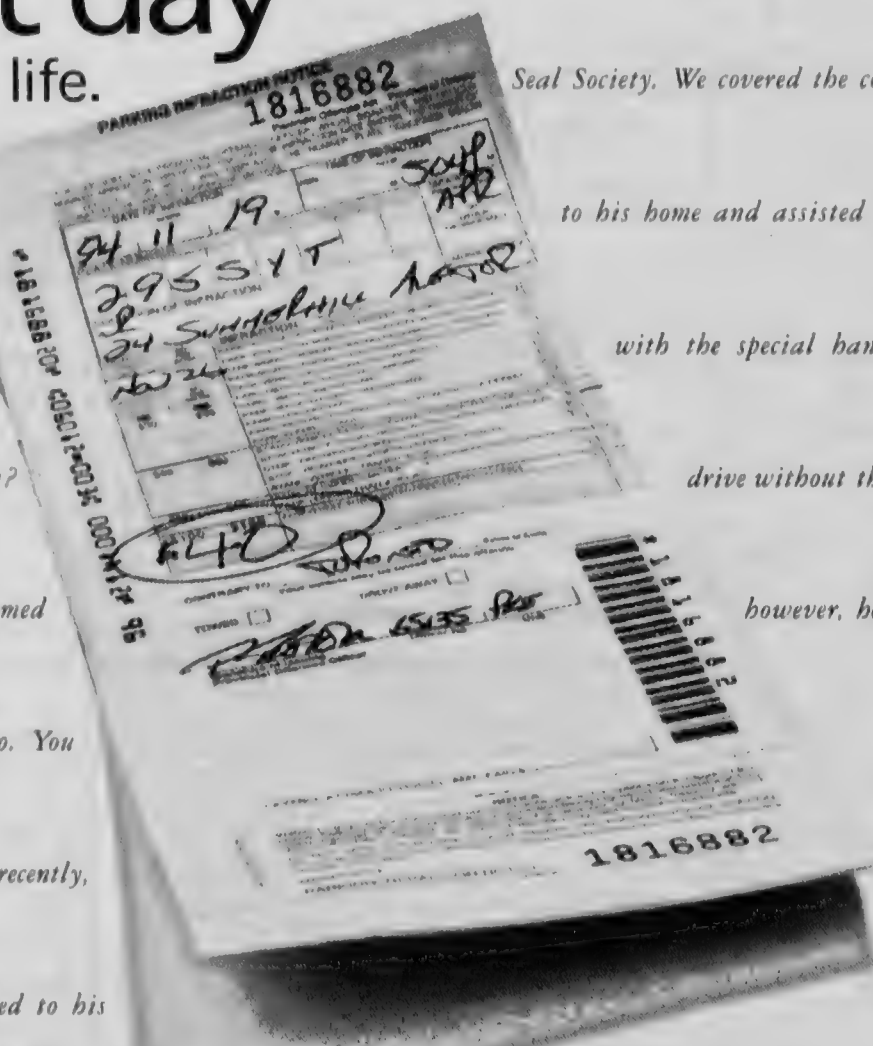

Seal Society. We covered the costs of installing a wheelchair ramp to his home and assisted in modifying his parents' mini van with the special hand control equipment Josh needed to drive without the use of his legs. The parking ticket, however, he's going to have to pay for himself.

THIS WHEELCHAIR IS LIKE THE ONE JOSH USES AND COSTS AROUND $3,000. THAT'S WHY WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT. PLEASE DONATE WHAT YOU CAN TO THE EASTER SEAL SOCIETY, 250 FERRAND DRIVE, SUITE 200, DON MILLS, ONTARIO M3C 3P2, OR CALL 1-800-668-0252

Student writers provide support in Literary Society

by Misty Bennett, HHSS student reporter

Writers sharing techniques and benefiting from constructive criticism of others is the idea behind the HHSS Literary Society. Formed in September under the guidance of two English teachers, Mr. Penfold and Mr. Flatman, "the idea has been in the works for over a year," Sarah Levis, one of the group's members admits.

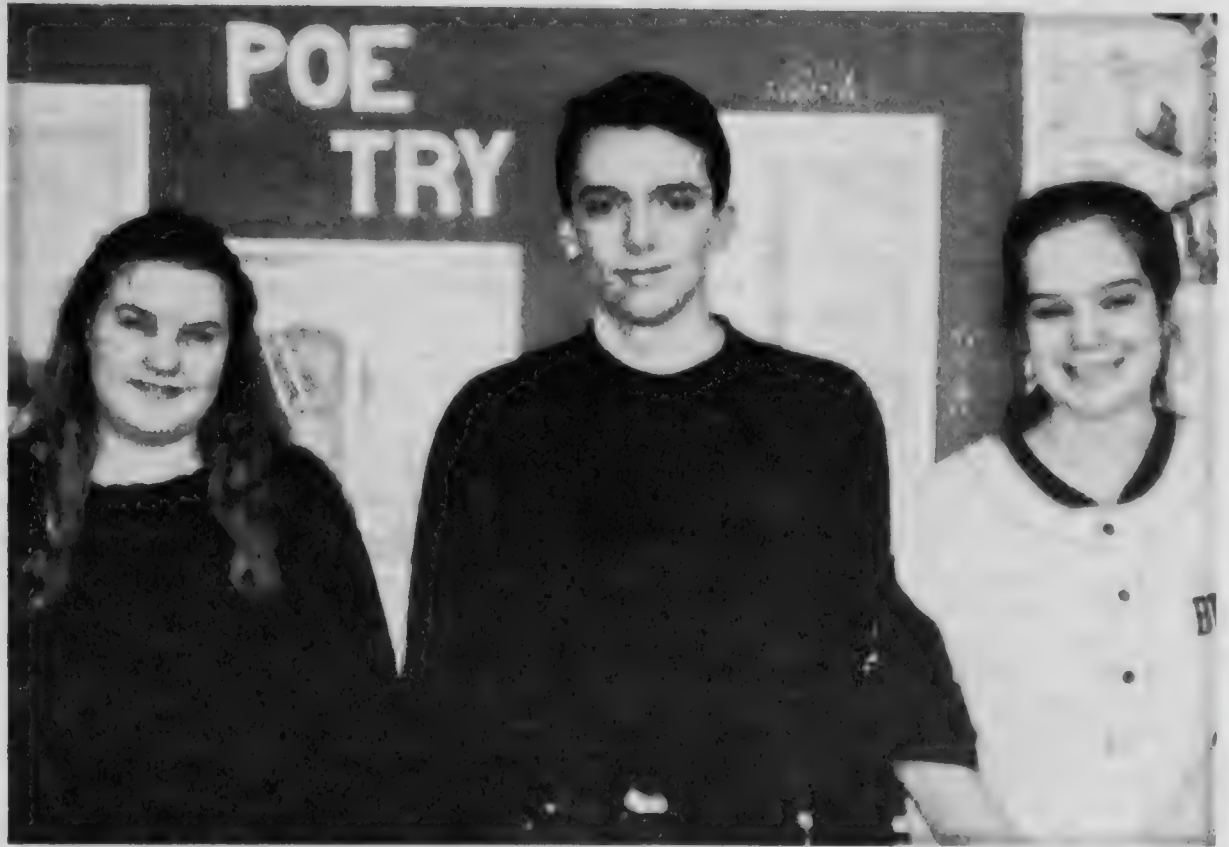

The group started out small. "There were just three of us for a while," Levis confesses. However, it has slowly attracted additional participants and has grown over the year.

The Literary Society meets once a week, every Wednesday after school. It is a group which supports creative writers and students interested in pursuing writing either for their personal enjoyment or as a career option. "We read material we have written and the other members of the group provide criticism and offer helpful suggestions," Jessica Berry added, describing a typical meeting.

Any writing style is accepted and submissions can be in the form of fiction, poetry or just "a story that needs to be written."

The group hopes to become involved in the production of the school's newsletter, published by the school office. The group would also like to distribute a booklet with some of the members' best work. Mr. Penfold is hopeful that if there is a demand, the booklet would be available to the general public.

The group welcomes new members. "Just show up, bring a pencil, paper and your imagination. That is all that is required," Berry said enthusiastically.

THE WRITE STUFF: Members of the HHSS Literary Society include, from the left, Jessica Berry, Adam Dunn and Sarah Levis. Others participating in the group are Cassie Weyrich, Don Mawbey, Bev Emmerson, Chris Miniaci, and staff adviser Mr. Penfold.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN

NOTICE

(File No. SRA-94-06)

IN THE MATTER OF the Municipal Act; and IN THE MATTER OF a proposed by-law of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to stop up, close and convey to the adjoining landowner portions of the original allowance for road along the shore of Gull River, lying in front of Part of Lot 1, Concession 1, in the Township of Anson.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 300 (1) (a) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1990, as amended, that the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden proposes to consider, and if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held in the Municipal Council Chambers on Milne Street, Minden, Ontario, on April 27, 1995 at the hour of 7:30 p.m., a by-law to stop up, close and convey those parcels of land more particularly described as follows:-

Parts of the original allowance for road along the shore of Gull River, lying in front of Part of Lot 1, Concession 1, Township of Anson, designated as Part 1 on a plan of survey by H. Curry Bishop, Ontario Land Surveyor, dated December 30, 1994.

The plan of survey is available for inspection in the Municipal Office, at Minden, Ontario during regular office hours.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that before passing the said by-law at the meeting to be held at the time and place above-mentioned, the Council shall then and there hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor, or agent, any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected by the said by-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED AT THE Township of Minden this 22nd day of March, 1995.

Legion donation

Hyland Crest has a new tub for its residents thanks to the generosity of the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 636 and the Ladies Auxiliary Foundation of Ontario. The local organizations combined their efforts with the provincial body to fund the purchase of the tub and a number of special chairs which meet the needs of patients who have problems getting in or out of a regular chair. On hand to make the presentation were, from the left, Margaret Kennelly director of District F for the Royal Canadian Legion, Bill Blyth of Branch 636, Hyland Crest administrator Gary McKnight, and Francine Newton of the Minden branch.

ACW hosts tea for residents

Senior League

by Donna Wallace

Residents sure kept fit this week. Fitness took place Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Monday afternoon some of the residents attended poet's corner. They wrote a poem titled "Easter Memories".

Tuesday morning Rev. Murray conducted the chapel service. A memorial service was held in honour of the late Mary Busby. In the afternoon we were finishing our Easter baskets and making decorations to hang throughout the home. Later, Pearl gathered folks together for some euchre.

Wednesday afternoon Doris and Janice called some bingo games while a number of other folks played crokinole.

Thursday afternoon the Minden A.C.W held a tea party in the auditorium. They served birthday cake in honour of the March birthday people. Thank you for the lovely luncheon ladies. The folks look forward to these occasions.

Friday morning some residents gathered in the tuck shop to fold serviettes for the kitchen staff. In the afternoon Frank Faulkner entertained at happy hour. He played several special requests on his fiddle.

Saturday afternoon John Menzies entertained on his keyboard.

Sunday evening Rev. Burgess took the chapel service. He played his guitar and sang hymns.

Birthday greetings go out to Edith Luke and Olivia Dugan this week.

As I sit here writing, that white stuff is falling. I couldn't believe it when I got up this morning. I guess I was too optimistic, thinking spring was here early this year.

I don't know who all the volunteers were this past week, so I'll just say many thanks to all who helped in any way.

PUBLIC INSPECTION

APPROVED 1995/96 CONTINGENCY PLANS - MINDEN AND FROST CENTRE CROWN UNITS

On April 1, 1995, the new Crown Forest Sustainability Act came into effect. After April 1st, Timber Management Planning is replaced by Forest Management Planning and an ecosystem approach will be the basis for forest management planning.

The Minden and Frost Centre Crown Management Units are managed by the Bancroft District of the Ministry of Natural Resources. The current Timber Management Plans for both Units covered the period from April 1, 1990 to March 31, 1995. The production schedule for Forest Management Plans has been adjusted across the Central Region by staggering plan renewal dates. In doing so, it has been necessary to defer the development and approval of the Minden and Frost Centre Forest Management Plans by one year. In order to permit forest management operations to occur, one year Contingency Plans are required.

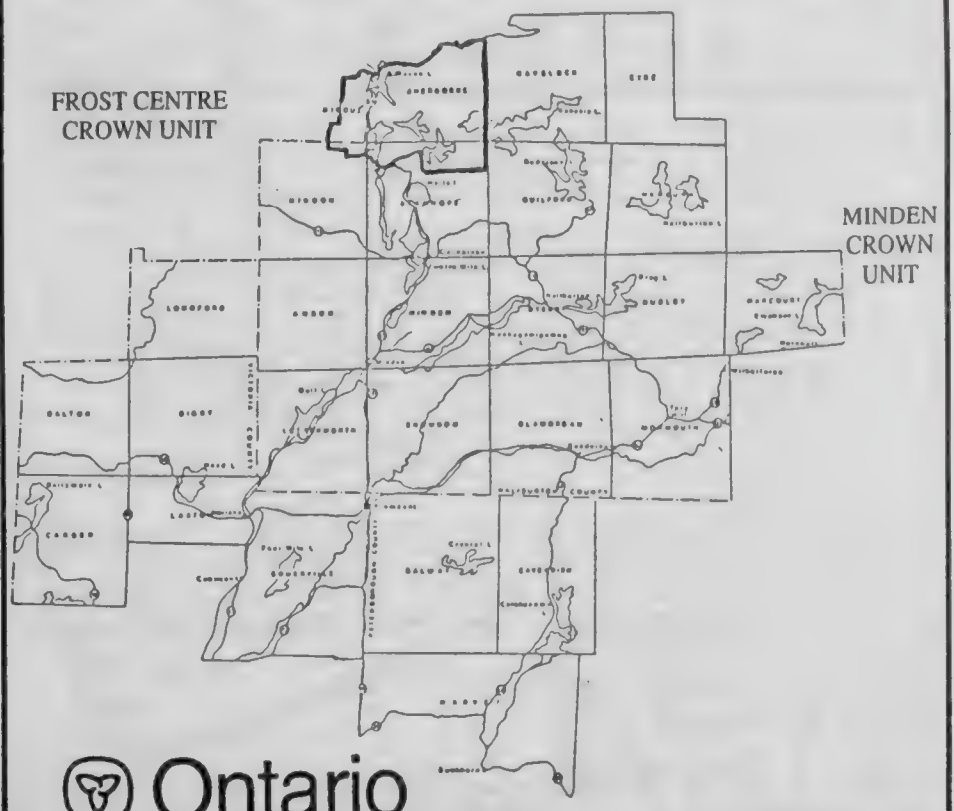

The Ministry of Natural Resources has prepared and approved the 1995/96 Contingency Plans for the Minden and Frost Centre Crown Management Units. The Contingency Plans outline the planned logging and other forestry work for the coming year. These plans were presented for public review at last September's Open House held in Minden.

The Contingency Plans are now available for public inspection and will remain so throughout their one-year term at:

Ministry of Natural Resources
Highway 35
Minden, Ontario
K0M 2K0
Tel.: (705) 286-1521

The Ministry of Natural Resources is collecting comments and information regarding the Contingency Plans under the Authority of the Crown Forest Sustainability Act to assist in making decisions and determining further public consultation needs. Comments and opinions will be kept on file for use during the Contingency Plan period. Under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (1987) personal information will remain confidential unless prior consent is obtained. However, this information may be used by the Ministry of Natural Resources to seek public input on other resource management surveys and projects. For further information, please contact Peter Hynard or Stan Fleming at the Ministry of Natural Resources office in Minden.

Warnings are ignored by the media

The electronic and print media are the primary source of our "information" about the world and this in turn is a major factor in setting our economic, political and social agendas.

Increasingly, talk shows, magazines and tabloid style newspapers and television programs compete for an audience by escalating sensation and novelty. But in a Warholian world of 15 minute fame and ten second sound bites, personalities and issues quickly fade into obscurity.

Scientists as a group are understandably conservative - the profession demands rigorous evidence and conclusions reached are usually tentative and contingent on what time and further evidence reveal. So it is quite remarkable when eminent scientists speak out, but then are virtually ignored by the popular media.

In October 1993, a wide range of scientists from around the world gathered for an unprecedented meeting in New Delhi, India. They reached a terrifying conclusion: "If current predictions of population growth prove accurate and patterns of human activity on the planet remain unchanged, science and technology may not be able to prevent irreversible degradation of the natural environment and continued poverty for much of the world."

For scientists, election to national Scientific Academies such as the "Royal Society" in Canada and the National Academy of Science in the U.S., signals outstanding achievement in science.

In February 1994, 58 of the world's scientific academies simultaneously released a statement. Signatories included all of the academies from the industrialized nations (except Japan), Russia, India, China and Brazil, as well as Federations of Caribbean, Asian and Third World Scientists. The statement is cautious and tentative, but must not be ignored: "It took hundreds of thousands of years for our species to reach a population level of 10 million, only 10,000 years ago. This number grew to 100 million people about 2,000 years ago and to 2.5 billion by 1950. Within less than the span of a single lifetime, it has more than doubled to 5.5 billion in 1993...We face the prospect of further doubling the population within the next half century."

Even with heroic reductions in fertility rates, our numbers will still rise. Barring major epidemics, wars or starvation, the scientists calculate that if the current average of 3.3 children per female is reduced to the "replacement level" of 2.1 within 60 years, world population will level off at 11 billion by 2100.

If an average of 1.7 is reached by early in the next century, population will still rise to 7.8 billion by the mid-21st century and then begin to decline slowly. If fertility cannot be brought lower than 2.5 children per woman, human numbers will reach 19 billion by 2100 and 28 billion by 2159!

Increased numbers and consumptive demand are the twin factors creating global ecological destruction as "a product of our efforts to secure improved standards for food, clothing, shelter, comfort and recreation for growing numbers of people. The magnitude of the threat to the ecosystem is linked to human population size and resource use per person. Resource use, waste production and environmental degradation are accelerated by population growth. They are further exacerbated by consumption habits, certain technological developments and particular patterns of social organization and resource management."

The reports warn that our rise in numbers threatens "irreversible changes of far reaching magnitude...loss of biodiversity, increasing greenhouse gases emissions, increasing deforestation worldwide, stratospheric ozone depletion, acid rain, loss of topsoil and shortages of water, food, fuel and fuel-wood in many parts of the world."

While population rises in developing nations create massive environmental destruction and greater human misery, by far the greatest immediate impact is US: "Developed countries with 85 per cent of the gross world product and 23 per cent of its population account for the largest part of mineral and fossil-fuel consumption, resulting in significant environmental impacts. With current technologies, present levels of consumption by the developed world are likely to lead to serious negative consequences for all countries."

The scientists believe it is shortsighted to focus so exclusively on economic matters: "When current economic production has been the overriding priority and inadequate attention has been given to environmental protection, local environmental damage has led to serious negative impacts on health and major impediments to future economic growth. Restoring the environment, even where still possible, is far more expensive and time-consuming than managing it wisely in the first place."

These are not irresponsible people at society's margins; they are leading scientists of the world and we'll hear more next week.

Acid rain report

The following report on acid precipitation was recorded at the Ministry of Environment and Energy site near Dorset.

This report covers the period April 1 to April 7:

April 3: 9.7 mm of mixed snow and rain with a pH of 4.6

April 6: 3.8 cm of snow with a pH of 4.2

Environmental damage to lakes and streams is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH readings of less than 4.7. pH readings less than 4.0 are considered serious.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Several warnings at this time of year - you must have a fire permit to burn grass, brush or other materials and also when you drive near wooded areas, be careful as deer are moving around looking for food and there could be a serious accident.

Ellen Woolfrey, Julie Woolfrey and Audrey Vick enjoyed a performance of The Phantom of the Opera in Toronto last Sunday afternoon.

Susan, Richard and Ken Beers returned home after a visit to Scotland to celebrate her mother's 80th birthday. Mary Wright of High Blantyre, Scotland, was delighted to have all her children and grandchildren sharing her happy event.

Club 35 euchre winners for April 4 included Merv Bunker with most lone hands, Jean Randell and Norm Lee with the highs and Betty Matthews, Murray Daniels and Bob Lewis. The 50-50 draw went to Verna Sawyer and the next Wheels to Meals will be held April 11 at 12 noon.

636 Seniors group is planning a bus trip to Windsor leaving Minden Legion 7:30 a.m. on Thursday May 11 and returning Friday May 12. For more information call 286-3269.

Ruby and Jerry Schmidt visited Irene and Allan Hawthorne in South River for a few days and also spent some time in North Bay.

Tuesday April 4 winners at 636 Seniors Group bid euchre games included Elli Langpohl, Iris Taylor and Mary Colman. Everyone is welcome to join this group at 1:30 on Tuesday afternoons.

Bradley, Maggie and Donna Robinson spent last weekend with his mother Florence Robinson helping mother celebrate her birthday. Many happy returns Florence.

All good wishes to the following: Elizabeth Carrell, Earl Schellenberg and Pearl Cowen. Good wishes also to anyone else under the weather that we didn't hear about.

Weekly winners at Stanhope Bridge Club on Tuesday were Betty Culley, Earl Hayne and Russ Fair. Everyone is welcome to join the group Tuesdays at 1 o'clock.

Monday night at 6 p.m. is the monthly pot luck supper for Branch 636 Seniors Group. Then on Tuesday morning, April 11, Lloyd Johnson will demonstrate T-shirt screening at the Legion at 10 a.m. Everyone welcome.

A good crowd attended Lochlin Centre on Tuesday April 4 with winners for the night including Cecil Robinson, Laurie Dean, Gerald Hicks and Lois Peters. Most lone hands went to Bruce O'Brien. Next games at Lochlin will be April 18 starting at 7:30 p.m. with all welcome.

Hopefully you have been busy with your crafts for the Minden Fair on August 19 and 20. The preliminary lists are out there if you need one.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Clayton Harrison, Carolyn Strong, Leta May Gillett, H.D. Quibell, Stanley Dawson and A.S. Riseborough whose funerals were last week.

Bid Euchre is becoming the special game Wednesday nights at Stanhope and on April 5 moonshots went to Rheta Brown, Bob Lewis, Pat Scadden, Grace Dixon, Marian McClelland with other winners Jean Scadden, Grace Dixon, Edith Burch, Lottie Ruttan, Pat Scadden, Marian McClelland, Bill Milford and hidden tied score went to Muriel Harrington and Pearl Foster. The games start at 7 p.m. every Wednesday night.

Minden Women's Institute April meeting will be held on the 19th at 2 p.m. at the Library/Cultural Centre and on display will be the Tweedsmuir Village of Minden History Books. Some annual reports will also be given at that time. All ladies welcome.

Branch 636 euchre game winners for April 6 included Estella Burch and Pat Scadden with most lone hands, Jessie Preston and Bill Mitchell with the highs and Helen Skelding, Bill Menard, Norm Lee, Ellen Holden and Verna Anderson.

Hyland Crest is in need of craft items for sale. These are sold in their front office to provide funds for recreational and social activities. If you have any new craft items to give, please call Doris Robertson (286-2140) or Dick Thompson (489-2968) or drop them into Hyland Crest. Please ensure the donor is identified.
